Students Search for 'Rainbow Connection'

"Why are there so many songs about rainbows . . .?" College? Work? Graduation? Leading an organization? Excelling in a sport? Students at CCHS found and created their own goals, challenges and rainbow connections.

"Rainbows are visions, but only illusions, and rainbows have nothing to hide . . . ." Students found that many goals required going through a lot of rain to reach their rainbow; many hours had to be devoted to studying and practicing for various activities.

"And what's on the other side . . .?" To decide if a career or a college was the right choice, students used the many resources available to them: apprenticeships, the Belleville Computer Service and informational pamphlets. "Some day we'll find it, the rainbow connection . . . ."

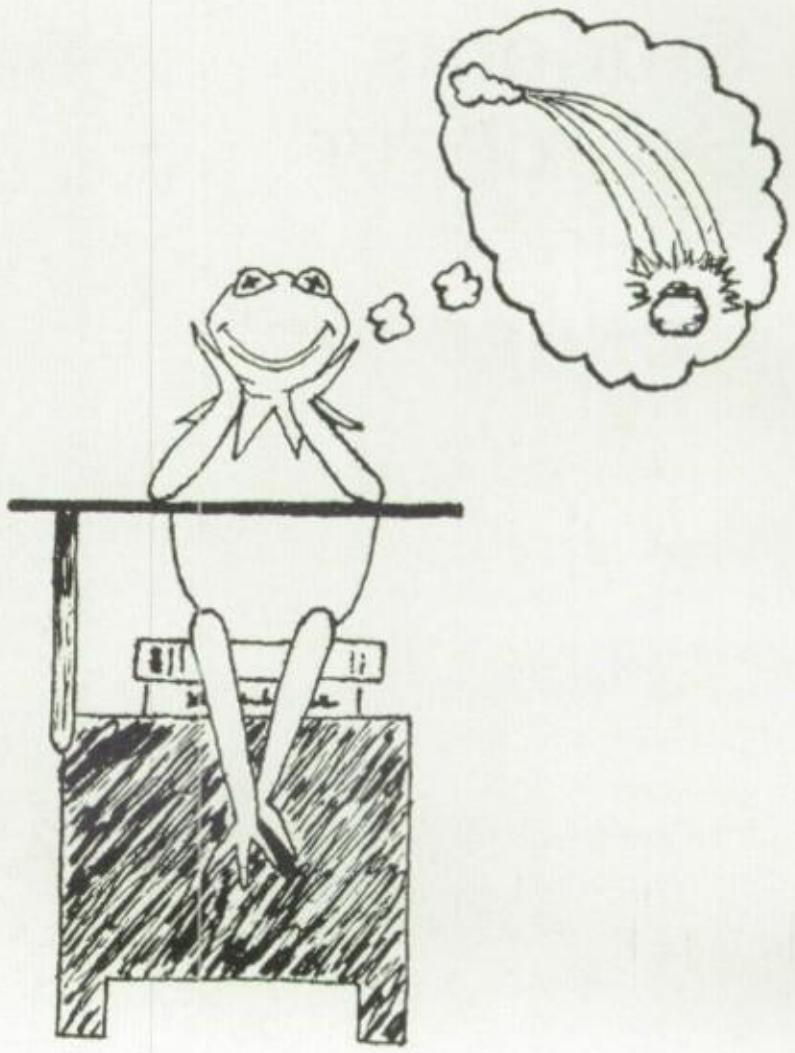
Keith Tackett and Naisan Karamzadeh work diligently to finish their manuscripts.

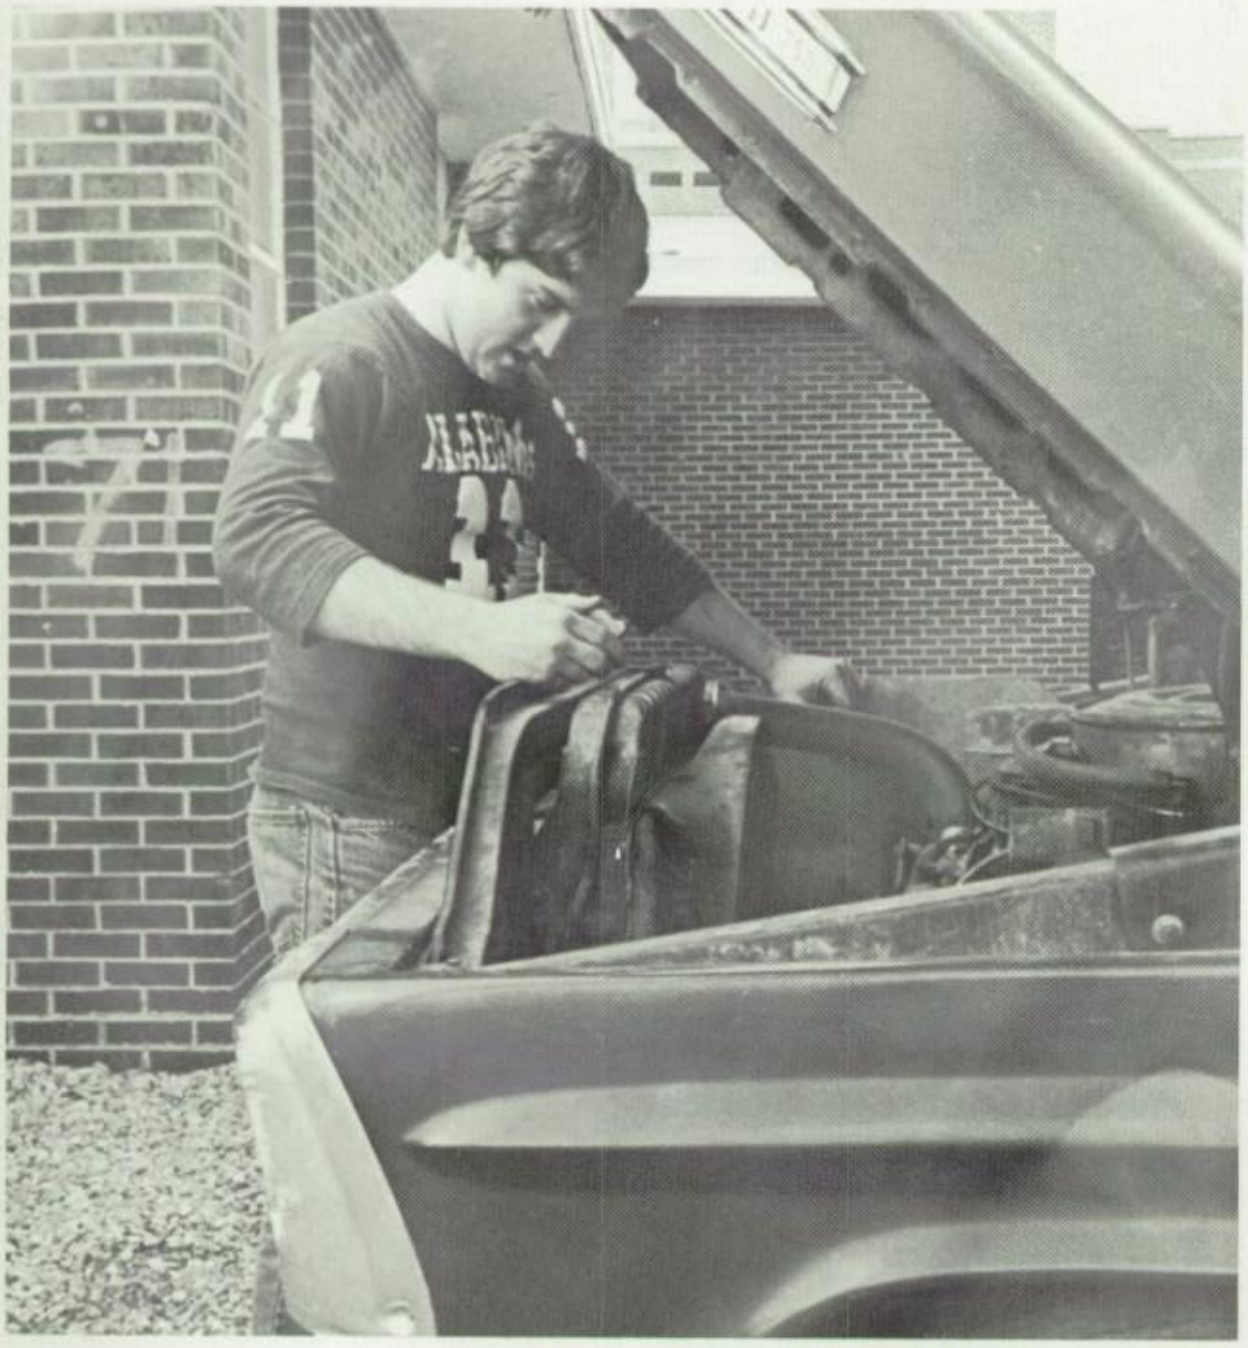
Mark Kious and Buddy Serrett watch as Brad Murphy draws his house plans.

Mike Hacker does work at Corbell Electronics to gain experience and insight into the field of electronics.

The building trades house on California Street gives students carpentry experience.

Connie Runge uses sources available in the Media Center to compile the information needed for her research paper.





Mike Reed gains skills through his auto mechanics class at John A. Logan College.

After school Catherine Treece arranges dental x-rays, types records and acts as a receptionist for Dr. Raymond Owens.

ACTIVITIES

The wide spectrum of activities at CCHS allowed faculty members and students to connect their rainbows in their own way.

Faculty members held an informational picket on August 19 during registration to make the public aware of their need for a contract. When an agreement was not reached, faculty members went on strike and did not return to the classrooms until September 2 when they received a promise of a contract by April 1.

October and November found Student Council and other members of the student body tying yellow ribbons for the hostages. Speech I class members gave speeches before the election in front of a student assembly to present the records of political candidates they supported.

Students had many outlets to express their talents such as the musical, plays, concerts, and dances.

As the days grew warmer, skipping school became an increasingly favorite activity among students while at the same time it became a growing problem to the administration. A poll taken by LIONITE revealed that over 50 percent of the student body had skipped school while only 16 percent admitted to getting caught.

Other activities which created problems at CCHS were smoking cigarettes, drinking, smoking pot, and taking hard drugs. Of the 394 students at CCHS, 21 percent said they smoked cigarettes, 18 percent admitted to drinking at least one night a week, 39 percent stated they had smoked pot, and 8 percent responded they had taken hard drugs.

Teachers' Strike Delays Start of the School Year

Mr. John Halldorson and Mr. Steve Lively walk the picket line in hopes that the teachers will receive a contract.

In spite of 100 ° heat, Dr. George Johnson pickets.

Tammy Sprague, Janet Coulter, and Tracy Lohmeier fill out information cards for registration for their last year of high school.

Lisa Capogreco and Mrs. Susan Appuhn help Tina Kious check her schedule card.

Teachers at Carterville made the public aware of their concerns with an informational picket during registration on August 19, 1980. The teachers felt they needed a contract, which would include salaries, fringe benefits, and grievance procedures. The board felt the teachers had no reason to ask for a contract since they thought they had always dealt fairly with them in the past on these matters.

The strike began on August 25, and at midnight on Monday, September 1, a settlement was reached. Classes began on Tuesday, one week late.

'Orange Blossom Special' Rolls Into Carterville

The crisp October air added to the Homecoming spirit along with the theme of "Urban Cowboy." Each class chose a song from the movie to use as a theme for their floats and skits. During the week, students dressed in jeans, boots, and hats. Awards were given to the best dressed cowboys and cowgirls.

"Orange Blossom Special" was chosen the theme for the coronation. The gym was decorated with autumn flowers, lanterns, a cactus scene, and a train with cars for each girl in the court. On October 9, Robyn Moore was named the new queen with Jerri Harris serving as the Maid of Honor.

The student body enjoyed a pep session-skit show on Friday morning. Skits ranged from boy cheerleaders to dance routines to a "Hee Haw" spin-off. The excitement increased as the afternoon brought the beginning of the parade. All of the queen candidates and attendants rode on floats made by the Student Council. The escorts rode in trucks and tractors pulling the floats. In the float competition, the seniors won for the third year. The Media Club received the award for the best stunt.

To top off Homecoming, the Lions won the football game against Johnston City. The 12-0 score gave everyone something to cheer about at the dance. The WCIL's Jam Van helped celebrate by providing the music. The students left the dance exhausted but with many fun memories from the 1980 Homecoming.

The Senior Class kicks up their heels in the "Hee Haw" skit.

Dolly Parton (Laurie Woolard) waves a cheery hello to the crowd.

The excitement grows between the classes during the sack race.

Members from the Sophomore Class yell in the "sooey" contest.

Fall Concert Features 'Pop' Music and Dancing

The chorus presents "Sing Out, Sweet Land."

As they perform, swing choir keeps time to the music.

The chorus presented their fall concert on November 3, 1980, in the Little Theater. Although there was no definite theme, most of the selections could be considered "pop" music.

The chorus performed, "Sing Out, Sweet Land," "Longer" and "I'll Never Fall in Love Again."

The swing choir performed "Highlights from a Chorus Line" in which Jerri Harris was the featured dancer.

Mrs. Debbie Berry was pleased with the performance as she said, "The highlight was the good job by all groups."

In "I Can Do That," Jerri Harris solo dances.

"What I Did for Love" causes the swing choir to become serious.

Robyn Moore plays the loyal and sometimes gullible schoolteacher.

The Arts Win Over Sports In 'Our Miss Brooks'

The 1980-81 Stage Club presented "Our Miss Brooks." The play was presented four times: two matinees, one public viewing and a special dinner theater for the parents. The dates for the show were November 15 and 17.

The cast was guided and directed by Mrs. Conni Church and Mrs. Sheri Hunter. The student directors were Denise Tottleben and Laurie Weaver. The pianist was Mrs. Norma Johnson.

The play centered around four characters who were in love, but had problems "getting everything straight." Miss Brooks (Robyn Moore) and Coach Longacre (Eric Gerlock) fell in love but struggled because of personal pride. Ted (Jay Meyer) and Jane (Ginger Watson) were in love but Ted's last girlfriend Rhonda (Jerri Harris) tried in vain to step between them.

Martin (Tim Morris) explains to his friends that he is unable to perform.

Principal Mrs. Wadsworth (Laurie Woolard) thinks that the only problems existing are her own.

Coach Longacre (Eric Gerlock) explains to his players that "Love Can Wait for a While."

Rhonda (Jerri Harris) and Ted (Jay Meyer) audition for the show.

The characters discuss the fate of the show after Martin is sent to the hospital, and there is no one left to start the show.

Tree of Hope For Hostages Wins Decorating Contest

Santa visited during December at Carterville High School. On December 23, the seniors presented their "Senior Wonderland." Cookies, brownies, and punch were sold for people who had the "munchies." Candy canes were sent to friends and sweethearts. Caroling was also done to instill the Christmas spirit. And, of course, Santa was there for the "kiddies" to tell him what they wanted for Christmas. It was also possible for pictures to be taken on Santa's lap.

The band and chorus gave two concerts. The first was on December 14 at 2:00 P.M. at the junior high school. The second was at the high school December 23 at 1:00 P.M. The chorus sang "Ring Those Christmas Bells," "Do You Hear What I Hear?" and "Coventry Carol." The band played "The Christmas Song," "Christmas Suite," "God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen," and "Festival of Holiday Songs."

The door decorating contest was won by Mrs. Marie Samuel's room on the first floor, Mrs. Brenda Bratcher's room on the second floor, and Mrs. Charlene Zieba's room on the third floor. The overall grand prize was won by the Media Center for their heartrending door decoration of the tree of hope for the hostages in Iran.

Cindy Schlesinger participates in the concert at the junior high school.

Sweetheart Banquet Highlights Valentine Season

A surprised new queen, Susan Schwarm, walks forward to receive her crown.

SENIOR CANDIDATES: Tana Evans, Ginger Watson, Queen Susan Schwarm, Jamie Jent, Robyn Moore.

Despite the cool rainy weather, the boys were treated on February 21, if they were invited, to the Sweetheart Banquet. The annual "girl-ask-the-boy" dance was held at the SIU Ballrooms. Couples arrived early in order to have their pictures taken before the meal was served at 6:30. The dinner consisted of ham, salad, peas, and scalloped potatoes. Silk roses and candy dishes were given as favors.

The coronation immediately followed the dinner. Susan Schwarm was elected to reign as the 1981 Sweetheart Queen. The WEBQ Good Time Traveling Show, with the hosts Kevin Casey and Tim Tucker, provided the music for the dance.

Students Perform Themes From 'The Variety of Life'

Were there really famous celebrities at school on March 25-27? Dolly Parton and Graucho Marx look-a-likes performed comedy skits in the Variety Show. Seventy students participated with singing, dancing, a live band and animal acts. The cast members performed merely for fun instead of prizes that had been awarded in previous years.

The last performance was a dinner-theater for parents. The cooking classes prepared a Chinese meal that helped make the show even more enjoyable.

Musical Shows How a Poor Girl's Dream Comes True

The spring musical, "My Fair Lady," was presented by the chorus on April 22, 23, 24 and 25. The play was double cast to allow more people the chance to perform.

The play was basically about a tramp, Eliza Doolittle, transformed into a lady by Professor Henry Higgins. The transformation lasted six months ending at a ball. Even though Eliza was accepted at the ball, she felt neglected by the professor. She ran away, but Henry found her at his mother's house; they confronted each other and talked.

Eliza was played by Melody Gray and Mari Lyn Jones. Henry Higgins was played by Eric Gerlock and Jay Meyer. Darin Sprague was Colonel Pickering, and Jim Hicks and John Merkin were Alfred P. Doolittle.

Eliza Doolittle (Mari Lyn Jones) tries to convince Pickering (Darin Sprague) to buy her flowers as Higgins (Jay Meyer) looks on from a distance.

Pickering (Darin Sprague) watches as Higgins (Eric Gerlock) attempts to make Eliza (Melody Gray) speak properly.

Freddy Eynsford-Hill (Robert York) buys from a flower girl (Kathy Runge).

Zoltan Karpathy (Jim Reed) tries to discover if Eliza (Mari Lyn Jones) is an imposter at the Embassy Ball.

Professor Higgins (Jay Meyer) drills Eliza (Mari Lyn Jones) in diction with "The rain in Spain . . . ."

Mrs. Higgins (Ginger Watson) and Pickering (Darin Sprague) discuss Eliza's chances for a successful debut.

Mrs. Hopkins (Kathy Runge) explains to Doolittle (Jim Hicks) that his daughter moved in with "the swell."

Mr. Bruce Groll directs the band while they begin "MacArthur Park" as the audience listens to the music they produce.

David Rehana, Catherine Treece, Walter Bogard and Ginger Watson play their saxophones in "Exultation."

Confetti Falls During Spring Concert While Band Plays

The spring concert was held on Sunday, May 3, at the junior high. The band performance consisted of five songs: "Manhattan Beach," "MacArthur Park," "La Bamba Vera Cruz," "Exultation" and "At a Dixieland Jazz Funeral." In the song "At a Dixieland Jazz Funeral," the band sang parts and threw confetti, which covered everything at the end of the performance. After the last song, they received a standing ovation.

During the performance, Mr. Bruce Groll made his annual recognition of all seniors. Tammy Sprague received the John Philip Sousa Award, which is an award for the outstanding senior. Shelley Groll received the Arion Award for the outstanding junior, and Mickey Williams and Catherine Treece received the Most Improved Musician Awards.

Janet Coulter, Karen Bois and Lisa Loftis perform "Manhattan Beach."

Heather Hatton and Elizabeth Taylor help keep the tempo in the clarinet section.

Memories of Prom Will Remain 'Always and Forever'

Students busied themselves ordering flowers, renting tuxedos, and buying formals: preparing for Prom. The Junior Class held the dance at the SIU ballrooms on May 9. The theme "Always and Forever" added to the romantic mood with lantern-lit tables, a fountain, plants and music provided by The Starship Enterprise. Coronation brought the crowning of a new couple, Ed Wilkinson and Jennifer Gentry. Balloons fell as the court participated in the royal dance.

Bowling, billiards and dancing were the recreation at After-prom. Breakfast was served before the couples left for home. Even the rain did not dampen the spirits of the Prom-goers.

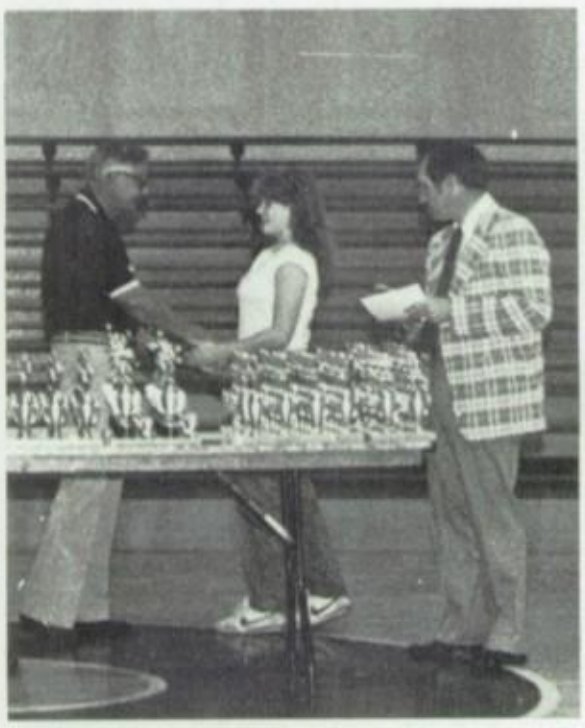
The "I Dare You" Award was presented to Juniors Ron Hanagan and Kim Brooks.

Woodman of the World Award was received by Ron Hanagan for highest American history grade average.

Ed Wilkinson and Mari Lyn Jones were given the Lions Club Junior Citizenship Awards.

Eighty-eight students were presented with trophies for outstanding grade point averages in the first three 9 weeks.

Students Honored at SIU Achievers' Banquet: Lisa Capogreco, Ginger Watson, Walter Bogard, Mark Evans, Tracy Lohmeier, Robyn Moore.



Dr. George Johnson presents the Physical Science Award to Hallie Stone.

Students Gather to Recognize Service

On May 19, Honors Day took place in the boys' gym. Honors Day was held to give credit to those students who had served the school in one fashion or another and to give out spring sports trophies.

The first awards were to the students with perfect attendance. Mr. Leroy Newton gave special recognition to senior Rosina Pansing for having perfect attendance seven years in a row.

Mrs. Katharine Sparks and Mr. Newton gave service certificates to the Main Office workers, and Mrs. Shirley Watson and Mrs. Charlene Zieba recognized the Student Council.

Mrs. Watson gave awards to library workers and video staff with special recognition to Mary Taylor, Ginger Watson, Lisa Capogreco, Paul Howerton and Tony Adams. Mrs. Watson in turn received an appreciation plaque from the Media Club presented by Mary Taylor.

Mrs. Debbie Berry announced chorus students named to "Who's Who in Music": Jerri Harris, Eric Gerlock, Jay Meyer, Mari Lyn Jones and Melody Gray.

The next awards were given by Mrs. Susan Appuhn to Guidance Center workers and to editors and assistant editors of the yearbook staff. Walter Bogard then presented a "Sponsor of the Year" trophy and certificate to Mrs. Appuhn from the LIONITE staff.

For her dedication in being cheerleader sponsor, Ginger Watson presented a gift of a sweatshirt to Mrs. Josie Kirk.

Mr. Newton passed out "Sphinx" awards to staff members and announced senior scholarships as follows: Lisa Capogreco — SIU Alumni Scholarship, Jamie Jent — John A. Logan College Foundation Directors' Award, Robyn Moore and Tracy Lohmeier — SIU Scholarships, Walter Bogard — Faculty Scholar Program at Florida Atlantic University, Mark Evans — John A. Logan College JETS Competition Scholarship, Prashanth Shekar — Washington University Scholarship, Tom Neal — ISSC Grant and Tammy Sprague — BPW Scholarship to John A. Logan College.

The Outstanding Art I Award was given to Jeff Cottingham. Dr. George Johnson and Mr. Ray Kemp followed with the Biology and Physical Science Awards to Debbie Hanagan, Kent Alexander and Hallie Stone.

Seniors Spend Two Days Eating, Sleeping and Touring

It was 5:15 A.M. when a few students stumbled out of their cars clutching their pillows. By 5:30 A.M. a group of about 30 had congregated exchanging complaints about how early the sun was up that morning. At 5:45 A.M., on Tuesday, April 28, members of the Senior Class piled into a school bus and started toward Springfield on their government trip.

"Mrs. Robinson! Pass the donuts back, please. Eeeek! Mrs. Robinson you'll never guess what happened to the milk when we hit that last bump."

The governor's mansion, an information center, Lincoln's house, Lincoln's tomb, a museum, the old State Capitol, the new State Capitol and McDonald's were all stops on their agenda. At the new State Capitol, they observed the Senate and the House of Representatives in session.

On May 1 seniors also arrived at the school early to claim their bus seats and to put up their luggage. When they arrived in St. Louis, their first stop was at The Lettuce Leaf for lunch.

After spending two hours at the zoo, they proceeded to the Magic House where they participated in the reaction room, shadow room, sound room, senses room and the fun slide.

Next on the agenda was T.G.I. Friday's, a restaurant known for its LARGE variety of food. Seniors ordered from the menu designed on a dictionary format and received T.G.I. Friday's balloons.

Even though they arrived late to the ball game between the St. Louis Cardinals and the Cincinnatti Reds, many of the seniors stopped at the souvenir stands to get bats, T-shirts and hats to support their favorite team.

After a quick stop at Steak 'n' Shake, the chartered buses headed for home full of sleepy seniors, souvenirs and numerous memories.

Eric Gerlock focuses on the pitcher as Walter Bogard keeps an eye on the runner at first base, and Allean Stout anticipates the runner at third stealing home.

Fred Kious rescues Laurie Woolard's WTAO frisbee from the fountain on the front lawn of the State Capitol.

Gaye Church experiences the effects of the electrostatic generator.

Lorrie Dixon observes a sea turtle displayed at the St. Louis Zoo.

Alan Reed goes to his feet in order to see the Cardinals make a double play.

Kathy Reed and Jim Kiefer wait for their Caesar salads at The Lettuce Leaf.

Ginger Watson tests her sense of balance at the Magic House.

Rainbows Fill the Sky at Commencement Ceremony

"Hurry up and take the picture!" "Is it raining? I'm sure I felt a few drops of rain." "Look at the clouds! It's going to pour down any minute!" Click! Click! Click! "My collar wasn't straight; I'm sure I ruined the whole picture." Click! Click! Click! The cameras went off, the rain poured down, and the Class of 1981 ran shrieking from the front stairs of the school to the refuge of the band room 15 minutes before the Commencement ceremony began.

Baccalaureate was held on Tuesday, May 26, at 7:30 P.M. in the high school gym. The processional and recessional were played by Mrs. Norma Johnson. The chorus with accompanist Mari Lyn Jones sang "Blessed Be God" after Tom Neal gave the invocation. Rev. Don Roberts delivered the message, and Rev. David McMichael gave the benediction.

On Friday, May 29, at 7:30 P.M. "Pomp and Circumstance" played by the high school band filled the gymnasium. As the students marched in, boys in blue robes and girls in orange robes carrying orange roses, the sun came out and filled the sky with rainbows.

The invocation was given by Rev. Marshal Davis. Tracy Lohmeier presented the salutatory address. Senior chorus members left their seats to join the chorus in singing "No Man Is an Island." Lisa Capogreco delivered the valedictory address.

The benediction was given by Rev. Marshal Davis. As the program progressed, the sun set and the rainbows faded from the sky; but the Class of 1981 had made one rainbow connection and had begun their search for others.

Dana Samuel receives her diploma from Mr. Garford Gooden.

SPORTS

The athletic teams at CCHS dedicated long hours of practice in all kinds of weather to prepare themselves for the search for their rainbow connections.

The Varsity Football players started practice in the 100 degree weather in August. They started the season by not being considered in the conference race. They lost their first four games but came back to finish the second half of the season with a 4-1 record. A highlight in their rainbow was defeating the previously unbeaten Sesser Red Devils.

The Girls' Softball team won the Black Diamond Championship and the right to go to state. For the first time, Herrin was defeated by the Varsity Volleyball team in their search for their rainbow connection.

The Boys' Varsity Basketball team was victorious over the Sesser Red Devils who were previously unbeaten in the conference. They made their rainbow connection when they beat Christopher, whom they had not defeated in five years, in the first round of the regional tournament.

Members of the Girls' Track, Boys' Track and Gymnastics teams pursued individual goals of self-improvement with the satisfaction of knowing they performed to the best of their ability.

After losing four consecutive games to start the season, the Varsity Football Lions rebounded to a four game winning streak. Beating Sesser-Valier was the highlight of the season. This victory ruined Sesser's chance of winning the conference outright. The high temperature and humidity during the Anna game made it difficult for the players to perform well. These factors, along with being the first game of the season, made the Anna game the most difficult of the year.

Outstanding players of the year were running back John Cuendet, who received All Southern Illinoisan and All Black Diamond. Punter Kevin Howerton and tackle Kevin Lightfoot also received All Black Diamond titles.

The Lions ended the season by battling Christopher for the conference co-championship. Although the Lions lost the game 6-21, they played a major part in determining who the champion was.

Junior Varsity Football Wins Black Diamond Conference

Running back on the kickoff, Brad Weaver is defended by Shane Watson.

The Junior Varsity Football team won all of their games except for one. This loss came in the very first game of the season against Anna-Jonesboro. Their 8-1 record enabled them to win the Black Diamond Conference. Shane Watson, who was the halfback for the team, made All Southern Illinoisan.

Out of 41 players, there were 24 freshmen on the team. Outstanding sophomores included Kent Alexander, Tad Hancock, Kevin Brown, and Kevin Tackett, which made up one of the biggest front lines in the area.

Quarterback Philip Tregoning fades back for the "bomb."

Freshman Brian Mausey barely crosses the line to score 6 points for Carterville against Sesser on the way to a 24-16 victory.

Freshman Football Holds Four Teams Scoreless

For the first time ever in Carterville High School history the Freshman Football team beat Herrin. Although Herrin put up a good fight, Carterville still managed to keep them scoreless. Eldorado, Johnston City and Sesser were also not able to score against Carterville's defense.

Because of the forfeit by Elkville, the Lions were scheduled to play Carbondale. The freshmen led the way throughout the game until the final quarter. Carbondale scored in the last minutes against Carterville to win by the score of 8-6.

During the closing minutes of the Carterville-Herrin Volleyball match, the score was tied in the second game. Carterville rallied from behind to pull out a narrow two-point victory. This was the highlight of the season because Carterville beat Herrin for the first time ever.

This victory left Carterville with 8 wins and 7 losses as an overall season record. Coach Kathy Oliva said, "Under the leadership of the seniors, the Lions reached their full potential."

JV Comes Back to Win 5 of Last 8 Games

The Junior Varsity Volleyball team lost their first 5 games, but then came back to win 5 out of 8 of the following games.

Coach Kathy Oliva said, "The team improved steadily as the season progressed, and even in the games they lost, they gave their all and played very near their potential. Offensively they produced much more than compared to last year's team and continued to work much more as a team unit."

Freshman player Mary Garross said, "We started out kind of shaky but learned to play together well."

Freshman Laura Hunter added, "We may not have won all of our games, but at the end of the season we gained each other's friendships."

In their games against Murphysboro, the Lions won the first game, then lost the second game by the score of 19 to 17, but struggled in the third game to come back and win the set.

The Cheerleaders were diligently engaged with practices, dances, and other fund-raising projects. With their new sponsor, Mrs. Josie Kirk, they practiced from the beginning of summer throughout the school year. They had several bottle drives and dances. The Varsity Cheerleaders got new blue uniforms from the school, and both squads received new pom pons.

There were five new cheerleaders. They were freshmen Kelly Gentry, Lyn Poteete, Renee Spillman, Susan Vagner and Amy Venable. The JV went to SIU last June to a cheerleading camp for a week. Both squads also went to a one-day camp in October. The JV squad was picked to cheer with the SIU Cheerleaders.

Mrs. Kirk liked being sponsor. She said, "I was not sure at first how it was going to be, but now I really enjoy it. The girls have been very helpful to me. They all work so well together."

Varsity Boys' Basketball Emphasizes Defense

The 1980-81 Carterville Lions Varsity Basketball team finished the season with a record of 9-15. The Lions' conference record was 6-12.

The Lions under Coaches Tim Bleyer and Steve Lively improved their defensive playing throughout the season. The majority of the Lions team consisted of juniors and sophomores. There was one senior player, Jeff Johns.

The Lions participated in the Shawnee Invitational Tournament winning over Shawnee the first game, losing to Gorham the second game, winning over Dongola the third game and then losing to Jackson by one point in overtime.

For the first time in 20 years, the Junior Varsity Basketball team won 20 games. Coach Steve Lively said, "All the players were fairly even in scoring; they all cooperated very well. One of the best games of the season was against Goreville; they had a 10-0 record and we beat them!"

The team won both the Black Diamond Freshman-Sophomore Tournament and the Black Diamond Conference.

When practicing, the players had to follow set rules and guidelines to insure cooperation. Before playing different teams, the players would practice specific defense and offense techniques.

He made them and sent the game into overtime. In the final 30 seconds of overtime Carterville grabbed the ball and tried for a stall. With 8 seconds left, Brooks Venable's shot was good. Carterville beat Johnston City establishing the highlight of the Freshman Basketball season.

The Freshman team went on to have an 8 and 4 season with their new coach, Ernie Crain, and standouts, Chris Kirk and Brooks Venable.

Second Place in Conference Is Result of Cooperation

Barbie Drew passes the ball to the inside in order to make a basket.

The Girls' Varsity Basketball team won 15 games and lost 10 on their way to a second place finish in the conference.

Coach Ray Kemp said, "The team played very good basketball toward the end of the season because we were in better physical shape and worked well as a team. Chris Mackin added a lot of spirit to the team and sparked us by her aggressive defensive play and gave us an added control and touch to the fast break."

The outstanding players on the basketball team included Barbie Drew, who averaged 24 points, 10 rebounds and 10 assists per game. Drew was voted Most Valuable Player in the Black Diamond for the past two years. Coach Kemp felt Kim Brooks and Chris Mackin teamed up to be the two finest guards in the conference. He said, "Alison Bradley hit 67 percent of all her free throws and played excellent defense. Cindy Schlesinger, Lisa Smicker and Lisa Taylor hit the backboard very well and contributed a great deal to the overall game."

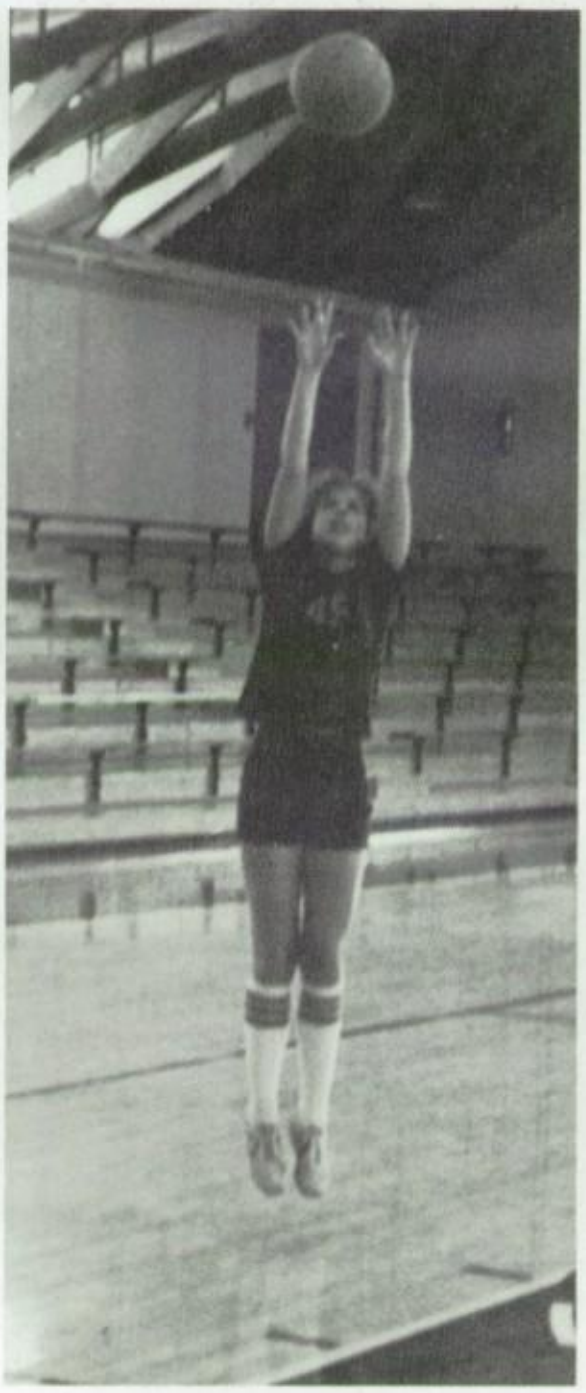
As the Junior Varsity Girls' Basketball team began practicing, Coach Ray Kemp felt really good about his team. They showed more promise than any other team he had coached. "I was very impressed by their size and speed," said Coach Kemp. These two things combined to help even up the odds their inexperience posed.

Coach Kemp said he felt the JV girls were a little upset about the amount of time spent with them. "With one coach, it's hard to give lots of time to both JV and Varsity. The condition won't change until more girls try out for basketball."

Coach Kemp felt the most improved players on the team were Kim McCluskey and Cindy Gillespie. The most outstanding players were Lisa Taylor, Kelly Gentry and Leah Akins.

In the fourth quarter of the game, Lisa Taylor and a Benton opponent jump for the ball.



The zone defense forces Kelly Gentry to shoot from the outside at the Sesser game.

The best match was against Benton, which they won 35-31. Coach Kuntz commented, "The reason for this was because the wrestlers put forth an excellent effort over a school that was considerably larger than we were. Marion was the best and therefore the toughest team we wrestled."

The Gymnastics team had a full season even though Mrs. Kathy Oliva was pregnant; the girls helped spot each other under her supervision. Julie Leeper, a past Lion Gymnastics member came in and helped with the more difficult moves.

A three-day meet was held on January 27-29. Every girl competed in at least one of the following events: uneven parallel bars, balance beam, vault and floor exercise. The winners in these catagories were: Robyn Moore, overall winner, individual uneven parallel bars, vault; Teresa Cox, balance beam; and Suzanne Young, floor exercise.

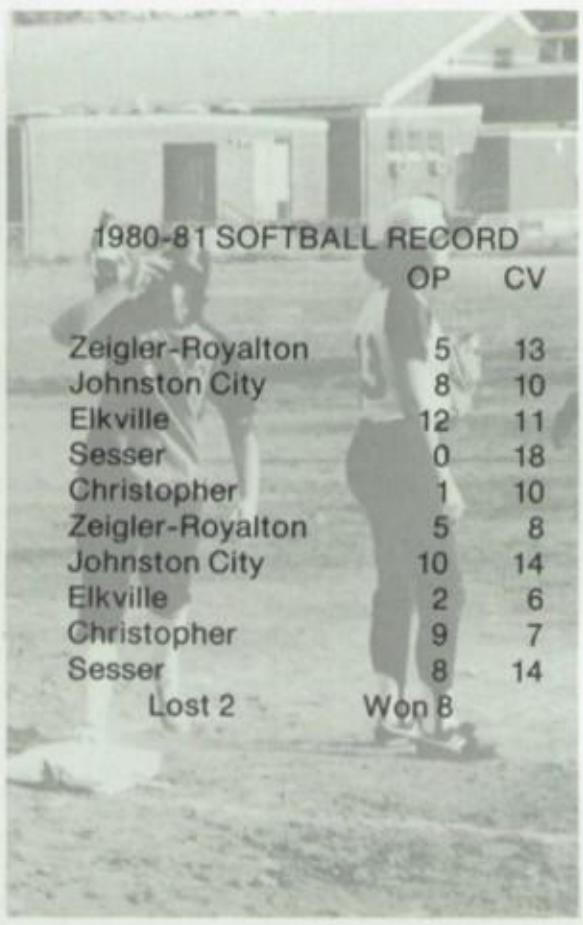
Softball's Hope for District Is Shattered

Lisa James slugs the ball into center field.



The Carterville High School Girls' Softball team had planned to go to the district tournament in the spring. However, even though they won the conference in the fall, school administration felt that to go to the district, they should have a full spring schedule. Coach Ray Kemp said, "I feel that if we win conference, we should be able to enter the tournament even if there's no spring schedule."

Carterville's season was packed with exciting games. In one of the games against Sesser, Jamie Jent struck out 14 batters out of 16. In another game against Christopher, 2 of their players ran into each other and knocked themselves out. Luckily, there were no serious injuries. The girls got back up and played the rest of the game. Christopher won 9 to 7.

Jamie Jent struck out 110 girls and also received Most Valuable Player in conference. Barbie Drew and Lisa James received All Conference.

Varsity Relay Team Breaks School Record

With the arrival of spring, the thoughts of many students turned to track and the new coach. The new coach, Mr. Steve Lively, said, "The boys were great. They were a good, hard-working team that practiced hard and weren't afraid to try new events. I really enjoyed them. I felt we had a successful season."

The highlight of the season was the breaking of the 3200-meter relay school record. Jeff Stuck, Simon Brown, Tim Morris and Chris Pearson ran the relay in 8:43.27.

Coach Lively thought the Howerton twins contributed the most points to the team throughout the season. "Kent and Kevin have been a great asset to the team."

CLASSES

For students at CCHS, 1980-81 was a year of expressing interests, meeting challenges mountainous and minute, reaching out for and attaining goals — connecting rainbows.

On September 2, 1980, the Freshman Class entered CCHS full of enthusiasm and energy. Instantly they were actively involved in every activity, organization, sport, and class offered to freshman students.

Sophomore students took driver's education, a requirement at CCHS, and anxiously awaited the receipt of their licenses. They realized a license was a stepping stone in the rainbow connection enabling them to arrive at school and to work more efficiently.

The future was on the minds of junior and senior students as they planned their career goals by taking ASVAB, ACT, and SAT tests, requesting information from the Belleville Computer service, and filling out college and job applications. A poll taken by the Guidance Center revealed that 71 percent of the Senior Class planned to find their rainbow connection by attending college, 27 percent by getting a job, and 2 percent by joining the Armed Services.

Seniors Win Float Competition Three of Four Years

On the first Monday in September, 1977, the Class of '81 met on the north bleachers in the gym. Mr. Harry Banycky proceeded to take nominations for the election for class president, which Eric Gerlock won with an overwhelming majority.

As the year progressed, the Class of '81 fell into the "high school routine." They won first place with their Homecoming float, "Devils Are Tender Vittles," and sold caramel apples for 35 cents at the carnival. In the spring they picked corn from Walter Bogard's corn field to raise money for their class.

As Sophomores, the students won first place with their float entitled "Lion Is the Word." They worked in football and basketball concession stands, held a chili and dessert supper in December, and sold subscriptions to magazines and records in February.

When they ordered their class rings in September of their Junior year, the students began to feel like "upperclassmen" — "Senioritis" was setting in. The class sold apples in October, spice sets in November, and candy in December. Jamie Jent and Steve Emery were voted 1980 Prom Queen and King in May.

As Seniors, the class won first with their float entitled "Look What You've Done to Me." They sold candy in October. In November, many of the students became involved in the Junior-Senior Play, "Our Miss Brooks."

The Senior Winter Wonderland was held December 23 in the study hall. From 8 A.M. to 9 A.M. students had their pictures taken with Santa, bought and sold kisses at the kissing booth, sent candy canes to friends, sang Christmas carols and sold baked goods.

As they ordered caps and gowns, presented Senior Night, and went on the senior trip and government trip, they realized that their high school days were numbered. As they participated in commencement, they realized where one rainbow stops, another one begins.

Teresa Cox and Janet Coulter examine their senior pictures.

Confidence Replaces Anxiety As Juniors Face Tasks

The juniors returned to school in September ready to face the many activities that the Junior Class handles. First was the task of ordering class rings. Their favorite ring style was one which featured the school mascot, the lion, and 1982 on one side and a choice of their favorite activity, organization or career symbol on the other side.

October brought Homecoming and the construction of their float at Dana Anderson's house. Their float entitled "Cherokee Fiddle" took second place.

In December juniors sold candy to raise additional money for prom. By February the Prom Committee had made arrangements for the 1981 Prom entitled "Always and Forever" held at SIU on May 9.

Spring brought many college prep tests. Of the 98 juniors, 16 took the National Merit test, 20 took the ASVAB test, and 41 took the ACT test.

Students Feel Comfortable With Sophomore Status

Coming back to school was easy for the sophomores, since they knew the daily routine of things and felt proud of their status as sophomores.

They started their year by working on the Homecoming float entitled "Here Comes the Hurt Again." The float displayed a white wagon driven by a lion and pulled by Indians.

To raise money for their class, the sophomores sold raffle tickets for a dinner before Christmas. They did an excellent job selling candy during February. They also worked very hard in concession stands during the football season.

"Overall the sophomores did a fine job," said sponsor Mrs. Cathy Ziegler. "We made over $1,000 selling candy and worked hard on our float."

Freshman Class Find No Time to Be Nervous

The Freshman Class was ready for high school, but was the high school ready for them? Apparently not; school didn't open until September 2, 1980, because of the teachers' strike.

Many of the incoming freshmen were nervous about high school, but they soon realized the fun was only beginning. The "average" student was involved in sports, clubs, and lots of homework.

The freshmen won third place with their Homecoming float. The float was built at Kelly Gentry's house and was heavily guarded by class officers and sponsors. The theme for the float was "Lyin' Eyes."

The freshmen also sold records, magazines, tapes, and candy for their money-making projects. Mike Cuendet had the highest sales from the records, tapes, and magazines drive.

Students Unite to Help Others

Students at CCHS found helping others very rewarding. Through the Easter Seal Dance-a-thon, WCIL's Help Feed the Hungry Campaign, making Christmas gifts for needy children, candy striping, and money drives for the Special Olympics, 43 percent of the student body participated in volunteer services.

Enthusiastic students became involved in activities such as tying yellow ribbons for the hostages and supporting political party members. A poll taken by LIONITE revealed 67 percent of the students were satisfied with the outcome of the Presidential election and 39 percent were satisfied with the way the Iranian situation was handled.

Fred Kious gives a speech in support of Paul Simon to the student body.

Jim Reed puts all his energy into dancing so that others may walk in the Easter Seals Dance-a-thon at Coo-Coo's.

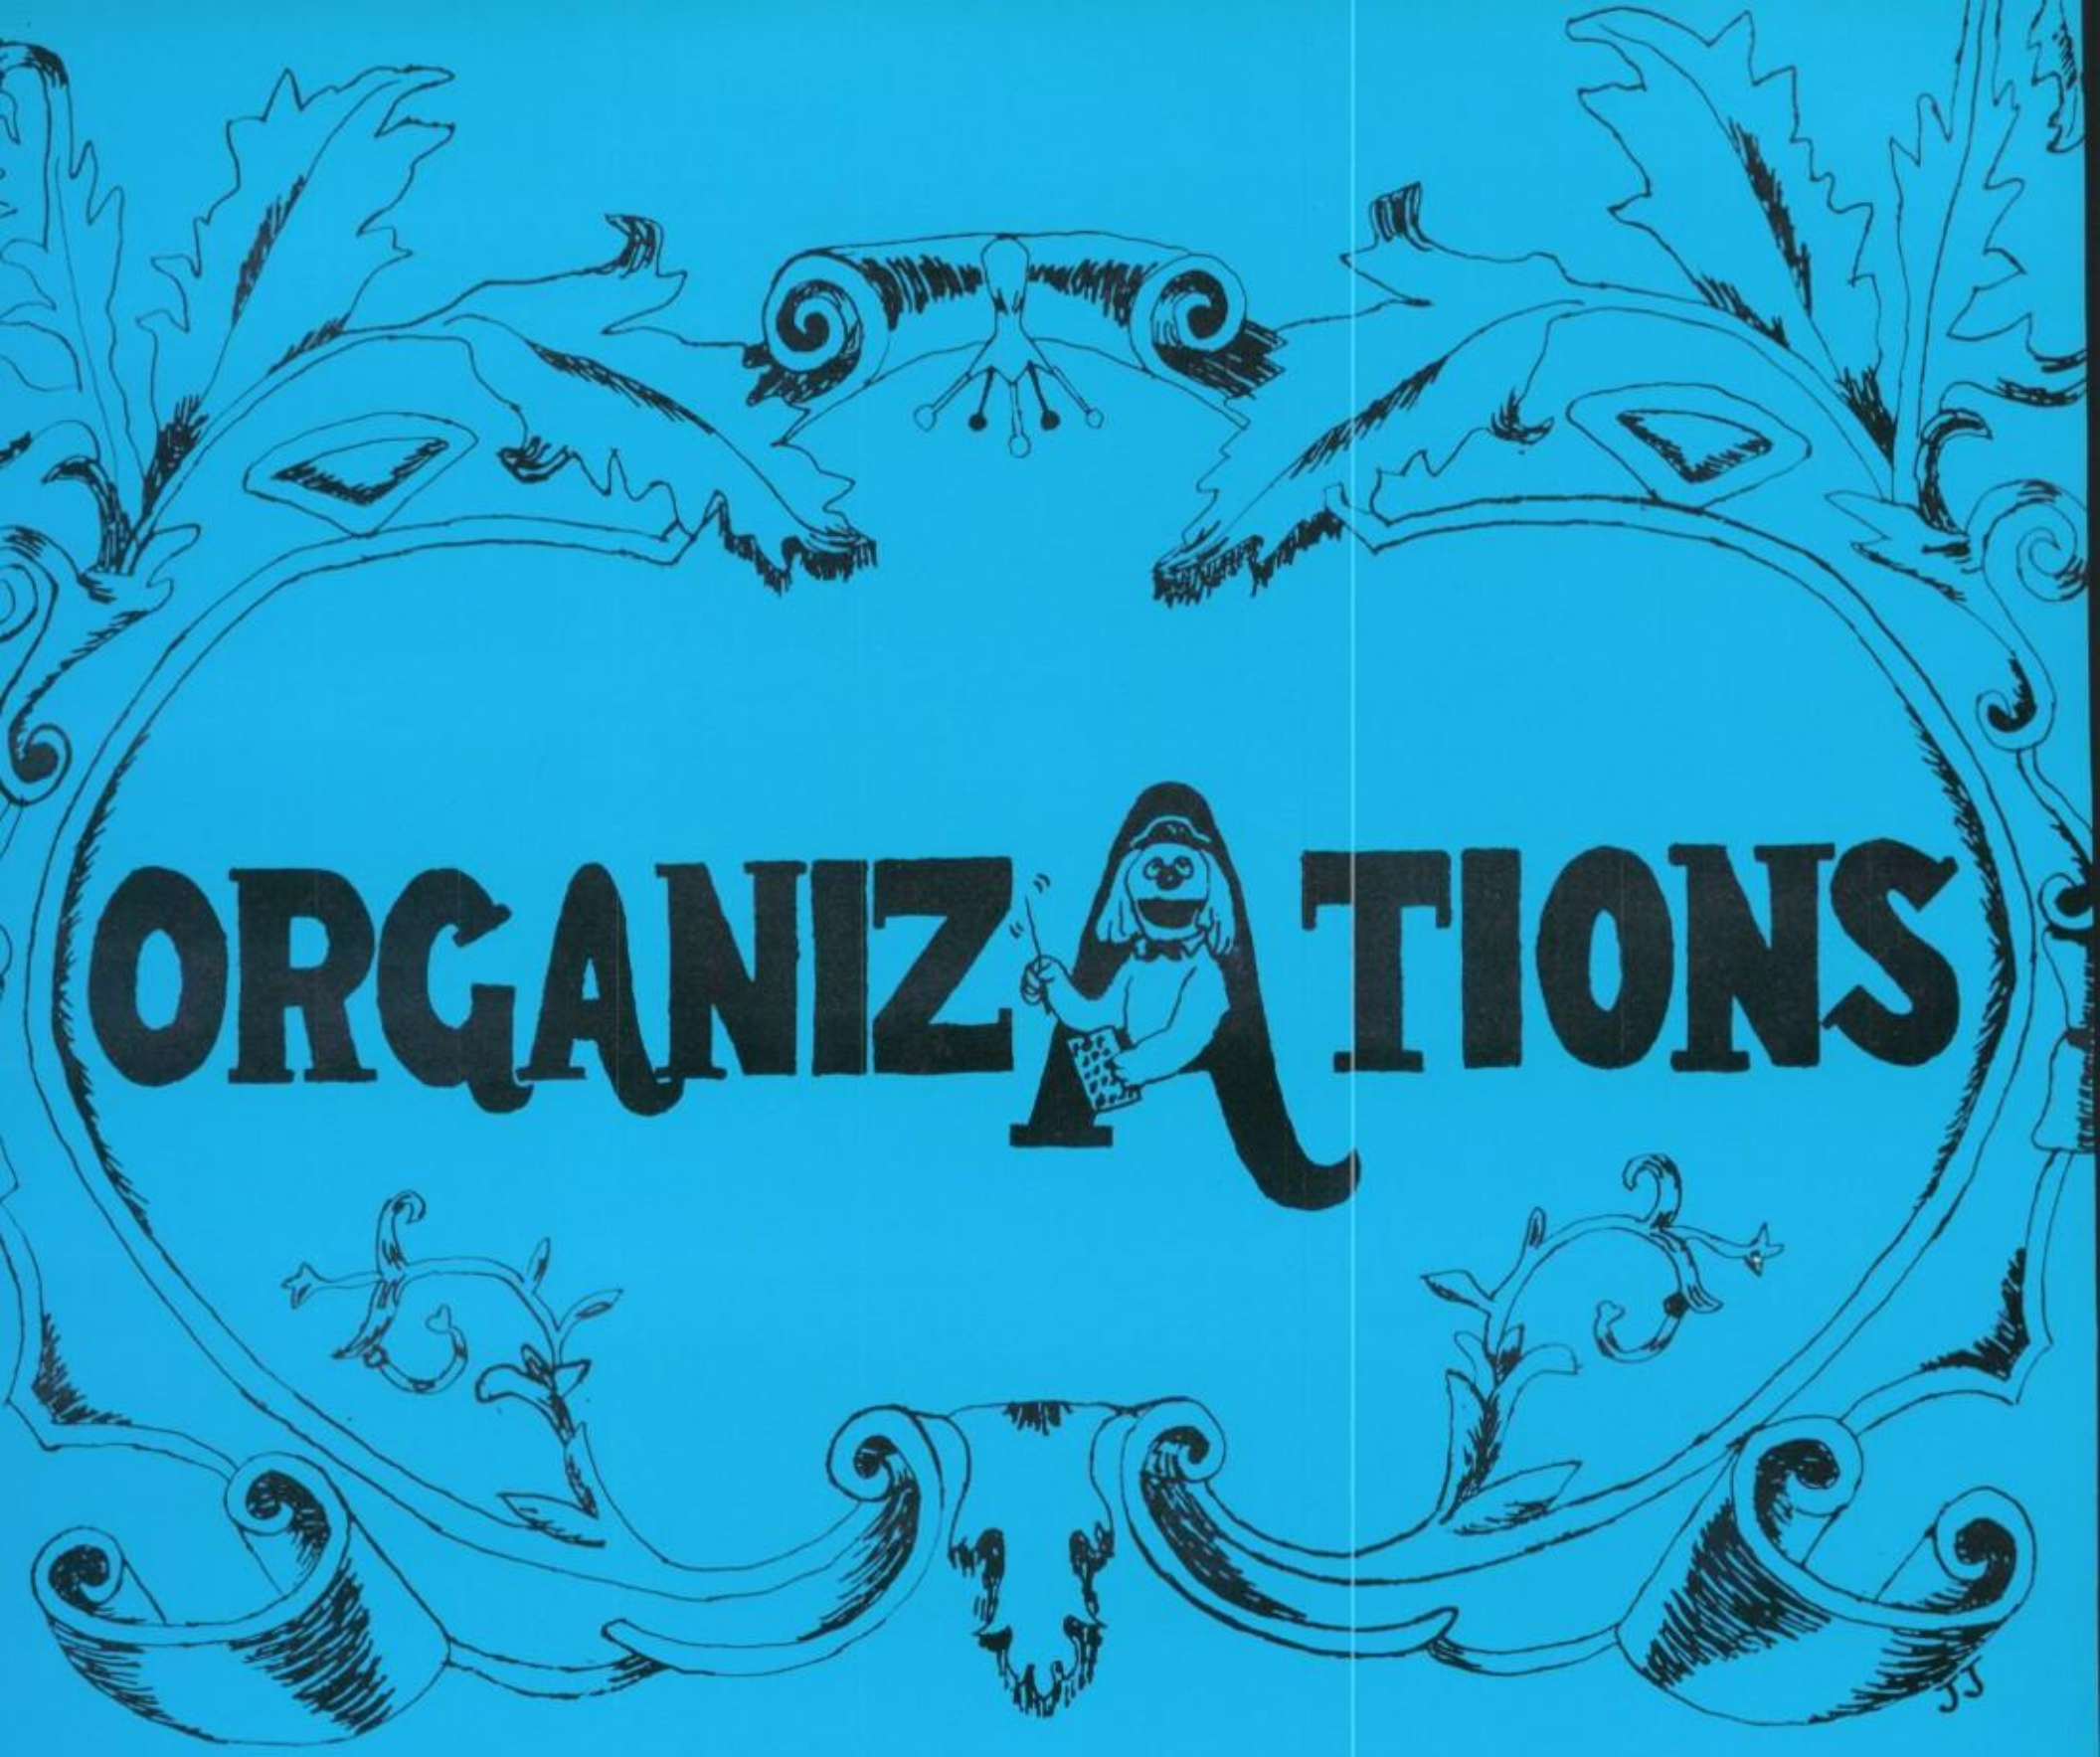
Robyn Moore and Rhonda Runge spend Mondays and Tuesdays after school doing volunteer work for Doctors Memorial Hospital in Carbondale.

ORGANIZATIONS



Fifty-eight different shades of gold are known to exist in the world, but the organizations at CCHS found a wide variety of gold at the end of their rainbows in their own school.

Art Club, sponsored by Mrs. Marie Samuel, was a new addition to student organizations. During the winter, they worked in basketball concession stands to raise money for their treasury.

Photography Club, a new organization sponsored by Mr. Jim Heath and Mrs. Susan Appuhn, was a branch of LIONITE. Meetings held on Mondays after school and on Thursdays at 7:30 A.M. gave students the opportunity to learn how to properly use 35 mm cameras and darkroom equipment.

Media Club, with the help of their new audio-video equipment, recorded basketball games, Homecoming skits, and humanities plays among other activities.

LIONITE members searched for the end of their rainbow with their original theme by designing the cover, endsheets, and art work throughout the yearbook.

French Club members sought their rainbow in Quebec, Canada. Members spent June 14-21, 1981, in the French-speaking portion of Canada learning more about customs and the language.

Two Art Club Members Compete in New York City

Art Club was a new club in the rainbow of clubs. They participated in a variety of contests: DuQuoin State Fair, Fall Folk Festival in DuQuoin, Logan Art Show, Window Painting Contest at Murdale Shopping Center and Scholastic Art Awards in Mt. Vernon. The acrylic paintings of Mary Taylor and Debbie Bennett won at the Scholastic Art Awards in Mt. Vernon and competed in New York.

For fun and learning experiences, they went on a field trip to Mitchell Museum and participated in the float competition in the Homecoming parade.

Wes Meacham works intensely to put his ideas on paper.

Two Points From Perfect Leads to Superstate

The CCHS Marching Band began the 1980-81 marching season by participating in five parades: the Cambria Labor Day Parade, the Carterville Free Fair Parade, the Carterville Homecoming Parade, the Murphysboro Apple Festival Parade and the SIU Homecoming Parade in Carbondale. Along with this, the Band performed at all the home football and basketball games. They also played at a John A. Logan College basketball game on February 8.

Carterville High School Band had a day of touring March 11. On the tour they stopped at Cambria, Crainville and Carterville schools, displaying their talents to future musicians.

In the Solo and Ensemble Contest March 7, Shelley Groll received a first; and second places went to David Rehana, Elizabeth Taylor, Susan Vagner, Amy Venable, Mary Garross and Keith Wortham. The CCHS band as a group participated in the State Contest in Carbondale, where they received a first place. Their score was two points from perfect. They then went to Superstate in Champaign, May 9. At Superstate they received a second to add to their rainbow of awards.

Drill Team and Twirlers marched in many parades. They marched in the Carterville Homecoming Parade, Cambria Loyalty Day Parade, Homecoming Parade and the Murphysboro Apple Festival Parade.

They performed also at all the home football games and some basketball games. When they marched and performed, they added color to the parades and half times just as a rainbow adds color to a rainy day.

French Club Says 'Bonjour' to Canada, June 7-14

French Club rode the Amtrak train over the rainbow to Quebec, Canada, June 7-14. Those who went to Quebec were Lisa Abell, Rene Baggett, Rodney Bonner, Alison Bradley, Jim Crabb, Melody Gray, Eric Gerlock, Debbie Hanagan, Ron Hanagan, Donna Jennings, Kim McCluskey, Tim Morris, Cindy Schlesinger, Terri Sheppard, Janet Vale and Suzanne Young.

To make the trip, French Club members sold Merri Belles (bells shaped and covered to resemble dolls and animals). They also sold T-shirt transfers and key rings. The individuals themselves had to pay the amount exceeding what was raised.

FBLA Plays Santa Claus to Needy Children

The Future Business Leaders of America members started with a fund drive. They sold items from the Hedenkamp catalog. The club made about $250, which was used for service projects and for the State Leadership Conference in 1982.

At their meetings, FBLA matters were discussed; and then businessmen, such as Wayne Gerlock of Pepsi and Al Lentien of WCIL, spoke about their line of work.

The major project of FBLA was the "Feed the Hungry" dance and can drive. The proceeds from the dance went to buy gifts for the needy children and their families in this area. The canned foods went to WCIL who distributed them locally.

With the help of the FBLA members, many children in this area found clothing and food at the end of their rainbow.

LIONITE Reaches for 'Rainbow Connection'

LIONITE'S road to the end of the rainbow began January 23, 1980, by obtaining the permission of Henson Associates, Inc. in New York to use the Muppets theme and ending with the final product, the LIONITE '81.

Life on the road to the LIONITE '81 had many new paths. There was the new darkroom and the creation of the Photography Club. This was the first year that the cover, endsheets, table of contents, index pages, division pages, opening and ending pages were all originally designed by the staff. The art work was done by Debbie Hanagan, Jamie Jent, Crystal Stennett, and Mrs. Marie Samuel.

There were also many long hours of collecting ads in the summer, collecting cans and newspaper, laying out pages, writing write-ups and checking for errors.

Media Club Survives Break-in on December 24

Through Title I grants, Media Center budget and various other funds, the Media Club was able to obtain new video equipment. The new equipment was a new camera, recorder and television, so that they could have a rainbow of color films. They also bought a mixer, which allowed them to have two or more sounds at once, such as someone talking with background music. With this new equipment, they went from the old reels to cassette tapes, which were more convenient to use.

On December 24, a break-in into the Media Center resulted in the loss of the new mixer, several cassette players and extension cords.

On April 6, CCHS reordered the equipment that was stolen, even though the insurance company said they would not cover the loss.

NHS changed the colors of their rainbow by changing their initiation plans for new members. On April 7 at the high school the new members were initiated. Before they had been initiated on Honors Banquet Night.

Two transfer students were added to NHS, Prashanth Shekar and Lisa Wiseman. New members were Susan Schwarm, Laurie Woolard, Kim Brooks, Shelley Groll, Kent Alexander, Brad Drew, Fred Hees, Paul Howerton, John Merkin and Scott Moore.

Photography Focuses on Life Behind the Lens

The Photography Club made its dynamic debut after the building trades students finished construction of the darkroom started in the 1979-80 school year. With the help of sponsors Mrs. Susan Appuhn and Mr. Jim Heath, the Photography Club provided the pictures that commemorate the events of the school year. Mr. Heath, a local photographer, donated his time to helping the club.

To help pay for these records of the past, the Photography Club held aluminum can and paper drives, which eventually brought in part of the money the Photography Club needed to help support itself.

The Photography Club provided pictures for both the LIONITE and the "Sphinx"; Photography Club helped students reach the end of their rainbows by picturing the world around them.

'Sphinx' Adds Color to Newspaper Fronts

The ''Sphinx'' tried something new by having a rainbow of colors on the front cover of several newspapers. They also dedicated the May newspaper to the seniors.

The newspaper was entered into competition in the American Scholastic Press Association and won an overall first.

The ''Sphinx'' helped students reach the end of their rainbows by bringing school and national news to them.

Numerous projects kept Student Council busy searching for the end of their rainbow. A major project of the Student Council was to clean up the school area. Members met early in the morning and cleaned up the school grounds so that the rest of the students could still enjoy an open campus.

Student Council was also busy with revising the school handbook. Another activity they were responsible for was putting signs on the bulletin board on the front lawn. The bulletin board was neglected in prior years, but Student Council changed that; every week there was something new. They sponsored "Rock Day," in which students dressed as their favorite rock stars.

To raise money, they sold stationery and sponsored two dances. One was an April Fool's Dance, where the proceeds went to the Special Olympics.

Student Workers Find Satisfaction in Helping

Student workers had the many jobs of helping to keep the school in working order. Their jobs varied like the colors of the rainbow; some typed, some collected attendance slips, others ran messages, still others totaled surveys and answered the telephone.

These students worked in the Main Office or the Guidance Center, where they were able to allow the guidance counselor and secretary to do more important tasks.

The students themselves got valuable training and the satisfaction of knowing they helped someone each and every day.

FACULTY

"I do not have to 'guess' or 'hope' what will be at the end of 'my rainbow' for I 'expect' and 'know' that CCHS students with the help from their school board, administration, faculty, parents, and EACH OTHER, will 'go beyond what is ordinary' by the end of the 1980-81 school year," stated Dr. George Johnson when expressing his and the feelings of other teachers at CCHS.

Faculty members often came in before school, spent their prep periods, and stayed after school to help students progress in their studies. They constantly strived for ideas to improve instruction.

A Career Showcase featuring 24 speakers ranging from forestry to dentistry was held on November 14, 1980. Students could participate in three sessions and gain insight about careers from people actually working in those jobs. After the Showcase, a Pepsi Challenge was held in the gym. Students were given a "taste test" to see if they preferred Pepsi or Coke.

Emphasis was placed on good nutrition by implementing a new breakfast program in the school cafeteria; however, a LIONITE survey revealed only 12 percent of the students took advantage of the program. "Junk food" was preferred as a lunch alternate by 77 percent of the student body, as many traveled off campus to eat.

Faculty members were also actively involved in school extra-curricular activities. Of the 27 faculty members, 78 percent were class sponsors, 63 percent were sponsors of organizations, and 33 percent coached sports teams.

New Computers and Construction Are in Plans

The school board had many expectations for the 1980-81 school year. Their plans included the installation and use of two computers that were purchased. The board felt that the use of computers was needed because future generations will be more computer oriented. The computers will also aid the administration, and a data processing course will be taught at CCHS.

In compliance with new state regulations, the board approved the construction of a new locker room for the girls' gym. Also, the addition of a new auditorium to aid in verbal communication skills and forensics was approved. The construction of a new library that will be twice as large as the present facility and will contain more learning resources was also on the drawing board.

Student Maturity Level Eases Office Load

Mr. Leroy Newton and Mrs. Katharine Sparks commented that they both agreed that the maturity level of the students, including all classes, was generally higher than in previous years. This fact made their year a little easier. They hoped that by the end of the school year, they would see the installment of a new attendance system that would be fair to all. This included the use of the new computer that was installed at CCHS.

Teachers and Staff Look for Their Rainbows

The faculty were asked to participate in the Faculty Section of the LIONITE. The teachers answered the following question: "What do you hope to find at the end of your 1980-81 school rainbow?" Their responses were gathered by both personal interviews and letters depending upon the teachers' and the staffers' schedules. The responses were quite diverse, ranging from the humorous to the profound.

Mrs. Deborah Berry
Chorus
"My wishes are for an overall fantastic chorus year and a super-successful musical."

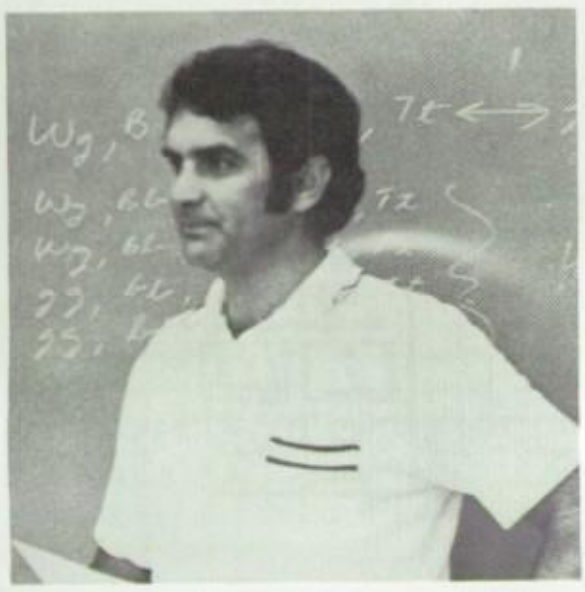
Mrs. Conni Church
English III, Speech I and II, Novels
Play, Variety Show, Senior Class
"I hope that the Class of '81 finds health, happiness and love in their futures."

Mrs. Susan Appuhn
Guidance Counselor
LIONITE, Photography Club
"I hope to find students who have made some steps toward understanding themselves and others and who have acquired some decision-making skills."

Mrs. Brenda Bratcher
Algebra I and II, Geometry, Math IV
NHS, Sophomore Class
"I hope that this will be one of my best years at Carterville High School. I have a very good group of students this year, and I am looking forward to a very successful year."

Mr. Frank Cluck
CVE, Drafting I, Shop I
Sophomore Class
"I hope that students realize the need to stay in school and learn the things necessary to make succeeding easier. It is most distressing to see young people not take advantage of the many things school has to offer. I would also hope that we will have all made it through the 1980-81 school year."

Mr. Mike Deck
Physical Education, Health
Football, Junior Class
"At the end of the 1981 school rainbow, it would be pleasant to find that at least three sets of twin sophomore brothers (each weighing 200 pounds and loving to play football) have enrolled at CCHS."



Mr. Bruce Groll
Band
"I can always count on having colorful students. What I hope for is music coming from my students that is colorful."

Mrs. Sheri Hunter
College English, Practical English, English III, Illinois History, Humanities, National Issues
Play, Variety Show, Senior Class
"At the end of the school rainbow, I hope that the Class of '81 knows the difference between a noun and a pronoun and has lots of fond memories of CCHS."

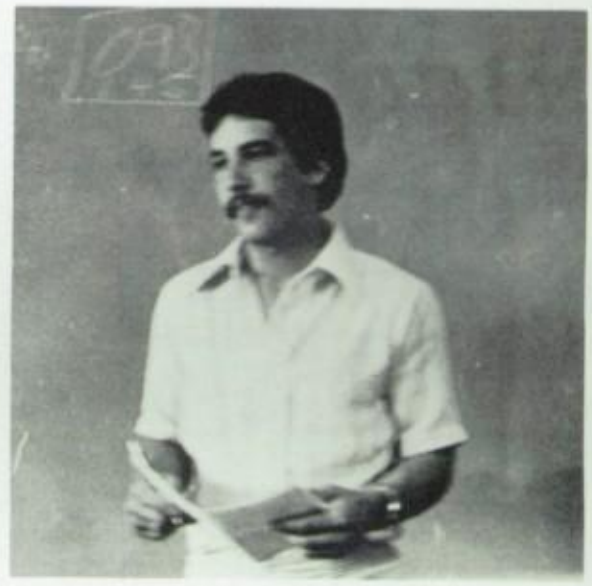
Mr. Gary Emery
Accounting, Introduction to Business, Typing I
FBLA, Sophomore Class
"I hope that at the end of the year, I find that my debits far outweigh my credits."

Mr. John Halldorson
Earth Science, Geography, Psychology
Junior Class
"I hope that the interest and understanding of my students far exceeds my original hopes and will continue to do so in their future."

Mrs. Linda Janes
Study Hall
"I hope that confident seniors will go forth to all nations selling M&M's and Milk Duds and tell everyone that there is not a more congenial spot in the world than CCHS."

Dr. George Johnson
Science I, Chemistry, Physics
Freshman Class
"I do not have to 'guess' or 'hope' what will be at the end of 'my rainbow' for I 'expect' and 'know' that CCHS students, with the help from their school board, administration, faculty, parents and EACH OTHER, will 'go beyond what is ordinary' by the end of the 1980-81 school year."

Mrs. Josie Kirk
Media Center Aide
Cheerleaders
"My fondest wish for the end of this year would be to find that I have completed my 1981 work as opposed to the 1979 work that I am still struggling to catch up on."



Mr. Steve Lively
Driver's Education
JV Boys' Basketball, Boys' Track, Senior Class
"I hope that 1981 will be a year of fond memories, that my athletes will excel in their individual sports and that my driving students will not 'run into' any problems."

Mr. Ray Kemp
Science I, Biology I, Biology II
Girls' Basketball, Softball, Junior Class
"I hope that the students I teach will learn something. I also hope that they realize that what they learn in a few short months took hundreds of years to be discovered and with this realization will appreciate this knowledge that much more."

Mr. Lee Kuntz
Algebra I, Math I, Math II
Sophomore Class, Wrestling, JV Football
"I hope to find the pot of opulence which is available to all who, armed with the weapons of diligence and knowledge, dare fight the way through the marshes of ignorance where the icthyosaurian monsters of slothfulness wait to prey on all who dawdle."

Mr. Robert Marrs
Shop I, Building Trades, Carpentry
Freshman Class
"At the end of this school year, I earnestly hope that the building trades house is completed and that my students will have gained practical and useful skills to take with them throughout their lives."

Mrs. Sheila Newcom
Typing I and II, Shorthand I,
Secretarial and Office Practice
NHS, FBLA, Freshman Class
"I hope that my students will gain employable skills before the end of the school year."

Mrs. Glenda Petrakos
U.S. History, World History
"My highest hope would be that everyone at CCHS would learn to spell and pronounce correctly my name — PETRAKOS."

Mrs. Marie Samuel
Crafts, Art I, II, III and IV
Art Club
"I hope to find the time to paint a little and to relax a lot."

Mrs. Kathy Oliva
Physical Education, Health
Volleyball, Girls Track,
Gymnastics, Freshman Class
"I would dearly love to have a healthy new baby and my old waistline back."

Mrs. Marlene Robinson
U.S. History, Government,
National Issues
Junior Class
"I would like another rainbow — there is more fun sometimes in the searching than in the finding."

Miss Linda Triest
Mentor, Title I Reading
"Sphinx"
"At the end of the 1981 rainbow, I hope that all of my students have passed their classes and that an interior decorator has done something (anything!) with my room."

Mrs. Shirley Watson
Media Specialist
Media Club, Student Council
"I hope to find all the Media Center's new materials classified and processed and all other materials returned, inventoried and on the shelves! Finally, I especially hope that all of us (students and faculty) will feel a sense of achievement and joy of a job well done and a year well-lived."

Mrs. Nancy Wylde
English I and II
Junior Class
"I hope that I have succeeded in convincing my students that 'read' and 'write' are not dirty words."

Mrs. Charlene Zieba
Home Economics I and II,
Clothing Design, Cooking,
Child Care
FHA, Student Council
"My fondest wish would be that the annual FHA project of 'Tom-Watt' would go more smoothly and 'Tom' would be put to rest earlier with each successive year."

Mrs. Cathy Ziegler
English II, French I, II,
III and IV
French Club, Sophomore Class
"I hope that I am able to take a group of French students to visit Canada and to apply the language they have learned."

If we accept Webster's layity definition of a "rainbow" as being "a bow or arc of colors caused by the refraction and reflection of sunlight passing through droplets of rain," and then perceive "his bow of colors" as being a "reflection" of CCHS, then we are indeed in "stormy weather" as evidenced by his definition for each of the colors in "his rainbow" which follow: RED — "Operating at a loss"; ORANGE — "Representing royalty"; YELLOW — "Sacrificing truth for sensationalism"; GREEN — "Unseasoned" or "Inexperienced"; BLUE — "Holding little hope"; VIOLET — "State flower of Illinois." If one perceived CCHS in "light" of Webster's definitions, then one could only "guess" as to what one would "hope" to find at the end of such an "array of distorted colors" and would probably find such a judgment "hopeless."

Let me then perceive my "rainbow" as a "spectrum of colors," each with its own "wavelength" and "frequency," or translated to an educational term — individual differences. In utilizing science, one does not have to "guess" or "hope" what is beyond the "visible spectrum" for it is well known that "electromagnetic radiations" are a "continuum." This then is my scientific answer to the "posed question": I do not have to "guess" or "hope" what will be at the end of "my rainbow" for I "expect" and "know" that CCHS students with the help from their school board, administration, faculty, parents and EACH OTHER, will "go beyond what is ordinary" by the end of the 1980-81 school year.

ADVERTISING

During the last week of May, 1980, LIONITE members took a survey of the advertising rates charged by other yearbook staffs in the local area. A record was kept of the rates they charged for advertising in their 1979-80 yearbooks and the prices they planned to charge for advertising in their 1980-81 yearbooks. LIONITE advertising rates were then set at $5 to $35 below the rates that other staffs charged in their 1979-80 yearbooks.

LIONITE kept its system of offering two price lists to businesses. If an advertiser wished to pay for the ad when he was first contacted he received the ad for $10 less than if he wished to be billed and pay within 30 days.

During the first week in June, staff members began selling ads. The staff was divided into five groups with each being assigned a color — red, yellow, orange, green or blue. Each group was then given a map of the city ads were to be sold in. The section a group was to sell ads in was shaded in with their respective color. This system of selling ads, under the supervision of LIONITE's advertising editor, Walter Bogard, proved very successful. Advertising sales increased 30 percent over 1979-80 sales. Two pages were added to the advertising section. Advertisements paid over 66 percent of the total cost of producing the 1981 LIONITE. The members of the LIONITE staff are sincerely grateful to those who helped them make their rainbow connection.

The LIONITE staff started working on the 1980-81 LIONITE on January 23, 1980, by obtaining permission from Henson Associates to use the Muppets to carry out their theme, "The Rainbow Connection." Their work was not completed until the distribution of the yearbook to the student body in the fall of 1981. During that time LIONITE received much help from members of the community who wanted to see them make their rainbow connection.

Mr. Jim Heath started helping LIONITE in the spring of 1980. Mr. Heath took the color pictures found on the cover and the title page. He helped LIONITE decide what darkroom equipment to order and taught the students how to use the equipment once it arrived. Mr. Heath became sponsor of the Photography Club and spent many hours after school, on the weekends, and during vacation instructing students on the proper use of camera equipment and helping them learn to make better prints.

Mrs. Marie Samuel helped LIONITE members achieve the look they wanted with the art work found on the cover of the yearbook. The building trades class, under the instruction of Mr. Bob Marrs, built a darkroom for LIONITE out of part of a storage room on the third floor.

Other members of the community helped by making special donations and contributing to the can and newspaper drives. Mr. and Mrs. Dick Bogard donated storage space for the cans and newspapers. The money made from the aluminum cans and newspapers donated by the community was used to purchase darkroom supplies.

Without the help of these people, LIONITE would not have been able to make their rainbow connection.

Thanks to our community contributors!
